Working with Children in the Brennan Healing Model

Presented by Janet Wepner

We will explore the energetic and physical dynamics of the growth and development of children. We will look at the correlations between chakra development and the stages of physical, mental, and emotional growth as human beings. These correlations can be used as a tool in supporting and working with children. Included will be personal stories of the lecturer's experiences and extensive time spent with children. An open forum for questions will conclude the segment.

Janet Wepner is a healing-arts professional whose work focuses on yoga, meditation, energy healing and emotional facilitation. She is passionate about balancing and integrating health through the body, mind, and emotions. She enjoys working in a multidimensional way incorporating many healing techniques, including Brennan Healing Science, Hatha Yoga and Reiki. Janet also completed four years of the Pathwork Transformation Program and has completed Montessori Teacher Training in early childhood education, with ten years teaching experience with three-to-six year olds. Cofounder and Manager of The Wepner Wellness Center, Janet brings her gifts forward working with both children and adults in her practice and yoga classes. A 2007 BBSH graduate, she is currently a Year 2 faculty member at the school. She blends and bridges her studies in Montessori, Pathwork, and Brennan Healing, offering a comprehensive approach to this lived experience of being human.
